WE APPEAL TO

Those Princetonians who are anxious to share the happiness of their Christmas with others, with others whose marginal ways of life force them to remain in the shadows where Christmas is just another day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world torn by fear and doubt, is a season for inner as well as for outer joy, and because too seldom do youngsters behind the "Iron Curtain" of want come to sense there really is a Santa Claus, Town Topics presents the following carefully verified facts for the consideration of the entire community.

There are in our midst a great many youngsters—as many as 40 or 50—who are the victims of circumstances far beyond their control. They range in age from toddlers to their middle-teens and they could well be called Princeton's "forgotten few." While their everyday needs, such as food, a roof over their heads, coats and rubbers for school and medicine when they are sick, are relieved by the established welfare services, what they need more than anything else is the assurance that grown-ups do love children and that Christmas is also for them.

The case of eight-year old Janie speaks not only for Janie but for the many others who are terrified by situations they don't understand. Some time ago Janie's mother and father went their separate ways, with Janie and the three other children remaining with their mother. Since then home has never been the same for this wide-eyed child. She cries too often, is frequently told to go to her father and now and then strikes out on her own to find him in a near-by town. One weekend she found him and came home with a battered, empty pocketbook—a gift to the family from her father.

Reports for another star-crossed family, a tightly knit unit in which five children are unknowingly confronted with health, financial and emotional problems, emphasize that the long-absent father "never showed any interest in his children and never felt the necessity for sending them anything for Christmas." The struggling mother has no money whatsoever for extras and is almost helpless when it comes to coping with an extremely nervous teen-ager whose prayers of hope are for "making us a family again."

Tragedy, a respecter of neither reason nor social distinction, has played havoc with the life of 11-year old Stanley, a ward of the State, whose good qualities must be salvaged if he is not to stumble down the road to delinquency. This appealing lad with a tough exterior is haunted by early memories of living in one room with his mother, two sisters and assorted guests of the family and is the kind of distraught child who in school, and in the home of his hard-working foster-parents, acts out his anxieties in ways not socially acceptable.

An overtired grandmother, increasingly in need of rest, and a loving, deeply conscientious older brother have succeeded in maintaining a home for four promising younger children. In the recent past the father died a tortured, lingering death and shortly thereafter the mother was committed to an institution from which she seldom returns. Through it all, the family has stuck together and has reached the point where individualized attention, providing respites for the bread-winners and guidance for the youngsters, will enable it to win its uphill battle with grinding poverty.

And the "forgotten few" includes the curly-headed third-grader, a behavior problem in school and an unloved child in an emotionally and economically unstable household; a 15-year old now making good away from home, after completing a year in a corrective institution; and a nine-year old boy who each day substitutes more and more interest in his reading and numbers for the sense of security and belonging he craves at home.

Amount needed: upwards of $1,000 to enable the Social Service Bureau and its allied services to extend to citizens-of-tomorrow the specialized assistance that will guide them through their years of grief and bewilderment and will ultimately mean the difference between misery and new hope, between apathy and faith in one's fellow men.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATION OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS IT BY.

Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to TOWN TOPICS, Post Office Box 664, Princeton.

Topics of the Town

Christmas Is for Children. In the days that lead up to Christmas, most of the planning, the buying, the budget-stretching are carried on with the eagerness of "little people" in mind. In a time of year given largely to rejoicing and thankfulness, nothing can quite match the wide-eyed wonder of a child opening a long-wanted present and the reflected happiness that flows from the feeling of being loved.

Conversely, the absence of such pleasure and security at Christmas-time plumbs depths no young boy or girl should know. As TOWN TOPICS reports on this week's front page, Princeton has more than twoscore children who deserve not only the tangible evidence of Christmas giving but are desperately in need of the warmth that comes from having been remembered. In addition to contributions sent by mail, gifts may be made at TOWN TOPICS' office, 4 Mercer Street, or at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street.

The ten days he enjoyed most of all those in the year were about to come around again for Henry Schultz. If the children of the Princeton community welcomed Santa Claus, it was with no less enjoyment that the elderly blind man looked forward to the time he could talk to them.

For the sixth year in a row, the little folk who love to call Santa at the North Pole and tell him themselves just what they want would have an opportunity to do so. Beginning Monday, the magic number 3375 would find Santa in business once more, each afternoon from 3 to 5 until Christmas Eve. Sunday, December 19, is the exception and parents are asked to cooperate by limiting their children's calls to the two-hour period indicated.

Mr. Schultz and his hundreds of fans (a new call is received the minute one is finished) get together each year through arrangements made by Mrs. Minot C. Morgan, Jr. of 36 Mercer Street and TOWN TOPICS. Merchants of the community contribute to a fund that supplements his savings and small pension.

When he first began to lose his sight seven or eight years ago, Mr. Schultz wanted to do whatever possible to stay in touch with children he loved to watch. In the ten days before Christmas each year, he stores away enough memories to keep him as young in heart as the cheeriest member of his highly-appreciative listening public.

S-D Day. Wednesday will be "Safe Driving Day," a day on which drivers and pedestrians throughout the country will be asked to give special attention to preventing traffic accidents. The S-D Day campaign was launched by a proclamation from President Eisenhower and will aim at a spotless record for the day.

The country in 1953 had nearly ten million traffic accidents and an average of more than 100 persons lost their lives every day in the year. S-D Day is intended to dramatize the safety record possible if everyone concentrates on avoiding accidents.

Governor Meyner in his proclamation of a Christmas Safety Campaign to start on S-D Day called attention to the fact that a year ago traffic accidents in New Jersey cost the lives of 105 persons, 47 of the deaths occurring in Christmas Week.

He urged that special caution be maintained throughout the holiday period. The governor asked for full cooperation with public safety officials and particular care against the hazards of intoxicated drivers.

New Jersey has apparently lost its campaign to reduce traffic deaths below those of a year ago. The toll is now 715 compared with 691 a year ago, and if December 1954 proves as costly as December of a year ago, the year's fatalities will reach a record 820. Mercer County has had 36 traffic deaths to date, five more than in 1953.

On the local level, Acting Police Chief John H. Smith and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have asked for special care to keep Princeton without an accident on S-D Day.

The Jaycees offered a basic safety plan: "1, Observe the letter and the spirit of all traffic regulations; 2, Be courteous to every driver and pedestrian—practice sportsmanship; 3, Give full attention to driving and walking. In short—drive and walk as you would have everyone else drive and walk."

Coincidence. Two long-time Princetonians, both associated with athletics at the University, found themselves involved in legal actions this past week which resulted from opening car doors that were struck by bicylists.

Dr Harry R. McPhee of the University's medical staff and Princeton's "football doctor" had suit entered against him by a Swedish cyclist who claimed that Dr. McPhee (while serving as American team physician in the 1952 Olympics) had opened a door in his path, with the spill resulting in a broken elbow. The plaintiff claimed the damages amounted to $25,000.

On Monday, Richard F. Vaughan, varsity hockey coach, and a Brunswick, Ga., banker agreed to a $2,200 out-of-court settlement for injuries suffered by a 12-year-old boy. The accident occurred when Mr. Vaughan opened his car door, striking the youth's bicycle and sending him into the path of the Georgia banker. A fracture of the knee was the principal injury.

Drivers Fined. The borough's drive against motorists who ignore "stop" signs produced eight more violators in court this week. Those from the Princeton area who paid $4 each were Gabriel Pilenza, 26 Witherspoon Street; Barklie Henry, Fackler Road; Walter S. Clayton, 130 Mercer Street; Mrs. George C. Wintringer, 100 Hodge Road; Mrs. Jane B. Greene, 158 Mercer Street; and Stanley Korytowski, Brunswick Pike.

Fined $10 each by Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro for speeding were Mrs. Margaret K. Corvino, 131 Jefferson Road; Mrs. Martha R. Rankin, 4 Ober Road; and Mrs. Esther R. Woodward, 86 Olden Lane. Mrs. Junnita L. Evers, 7 Lytle Street, paid $8 for driving with faulty brakes.

Mortgage Paid. Miss Fine's School announced this week that it had completed its Building Fund and paid off a $27,800 mortgage on its auditorium-gymnasium. A meeting of trustees, faculty, parents and friends of the school was scheduled for this Thursday night to mark the occasion.

Completed three years ago last spring, the building has filled a vital need in the school program and has also been made available to numerous civic, religious and educational groups in the community. It includes a large stage and has a seating capacity in excess of 500.

The Building Fund, set at $100,000, was launched in 1950 under the direction of Norvell B. Samuels. Parents, alumni and friends contributed $57,000, with a mortgage taken out for the balance needed to meet the cost of the project. Mr. Samuels was succeeded in later years by James G. Campbell, Jr. and Walker W. Stevenson, Jr., members of the board of trustees. By February, 1953, contributions had grown to $73,000, with the balance of the mortgage at $20,000.

Miss Shirley Davis headmistress, will introduce Dr. Allan V. Heely, headmaster of the Lawrenceville School, as the principal speaker at Thursday's meeting. Mrs. Douglas H. MacNeil, chairman of the board of trustees, will preside, with John P. Poe, president of the First National Bank, reporting on the official discharge of the mortgage.

Psittacosis Parakeets. Some 600 parakeets were ordered destroyed by the state Department of Health over the weekend when an investigation disclosed the presence of psittacosis, (parrot fever), which can be transmitted to humans and has symptoms similar to those of pneumonia.

Among the 32 retail outlets in the state which had received shipments of the birds was the

It's New to Us

Stars and Tinsel. Start your Christmas decorating by investing in the Santa Claus carousel at Nassau Interiors, the little merry-go-round of styrofoam that stands 14 inches high and plays "Jingle Bells" while Santa goes in circles. (A companion music box is the two-feet-high church with lights glowing through its stained glass windows and "Silent Night" coming from its organ.)

One of the most impressive pieces of Christmas pageantry is the big creche at Bamberger's. Designed primarily for a church or school, but certainly acceptable in a home—if your house is big enough—this imported manger scene has ceramic figures that stand a foot high. The manger is almost as big as a doll house, and there must be at least ten characters, including a formidable camel. Price tag is $49.98.

Smaller creches at Bambergers begin at $5.98, and they resemble this one in style and design. Both Nassau Interiors (162 Nassau) and the Nassau Paint Store, 126 Nassau, have hand carved wooden nativity scenes that show their figures in a kind of wooden grotto.

Those innocent wooden angels that appear each year have gathered at The Cummins Shop, 96 Nassau, some with small candles on each side, some carved from a flat piece of wood, others in three full dimensions. More angels at Nassau Interiors. At the Town Shop, 67 Palmer Square West, angels are under glass: small wooden ones mounted on a flat surface, are covered with a half-circle of clear plastic. You hang the plaque and let the angel swing.

Town Shop has other angels in net skirts spangled with sequins, or gowns of clear plastic with splashes of gold and silver. One shivering angel has a bunny fur wrap. All are supervised by those giant angels, a giant, Santa and a couple of out-sized deer.

Globes of colored glass from Belgium hang from the chandeliers at the Cummins Shop. They come in Christmas colors and three sizes: five inches for $1, eight inches for $3 and ten inches for $5. Incidentally, they are made of heavier glass than standard size tree balls—don't worry too much about breakage.

Nassau Interiors has a dazzling pink ball (blue) wrapped with gold string. A kissing ball has mistletoe, a big shameless spray of the stuff, hanging inside a cage made of white spun glass. Red ribbons tie it at top and bottom.

Hang it all from a white fiber Christmas tree, 18 inches tall for $2.95 (Cummins), or three feet tall for $5.95. A plastic tree has 100 hooks to hang things on—buy it for the children to drape as they will.

Town Shop's massive white candle with double wicks lights the gaiety this year. Standing ten inches high, it is an oblong block of white with a spray of real spruce imbedded just beneath the surface of the wax. Small cones have been laid on top. As the candle burns, it melts the inside wax, giving a pleasant glow through the branch of the tree.

Nassau Interiors, with a splendid collection of candles, invites you to decorate your own. Buy for $1.50 a jeweled candle kit and spangle your own. At The Flower Basket, 136 Nassau, two small, all-white angles carry candles in the tops of their heads.

Lights for your tree or your outdoor decoration may come from Bambergers, Farr's, 138 Nassau; Tiger Auto, 26 Witherspoon; Urken's, 27 Witherspoon;

Packard to Doten. Following the merger of the Studebaker and Packard companies, Kenneth M. Doten, Inc. of 140 University Place, will add 1955 Packard and Clipper models to his Studebaker dealership.

John P. Silvester has relinquished his Packard franchise and will continue in the automotive field as Princeton Continental Motors, carrying Jaguars, Hillman Minx, MG and other foreign makes.

The complete line of restyled and powered Packards and Clippers will be available through Mr. Doten. Public introduction of the new models is scheduled for the middle of January.

Fluoridation Recommended. The addition of fluoride to Princeton's water as a public health measure for the prevention of tooth decay was urged by Dr. Earl Ludlum, chief of the dental bureau of the state Department of Health, at a Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner attended by representatives of the community's doctors and dentists.

Dr. Ludlum reported that some 20 million people in this country now drink water that contains fluoride. Surveys of these areas have shown that fluoridation has reduced the number of cavities in children by an average of 63 per cent, while no harmful effects have been found, he stated.

The meeting was attended by Doctors Wilbur York, J. R. Burbidge, Donald Pickering, Thomas Harvey, Curt Kayser, Diran Magarian, A. B. Lampert, Edwin Manser, Irvin Vine and Clark Gleason, and Miss Beatrice M. Bedard, nurse at Princeton High School.

Township Appoints Anderson. Norman J. Anderson of Mount Lucas Road has been named assistant secretary of the Township Board of Education. He will act on behalf of William M. Karch, who has served the board in that capacity for more than two decades and is now on indefinite leave of absence.

Mr. Anderson has two children who are graduates of the Valley Road School and another currently enrolled in the third grade. He is assistant director of the Bureau of Student Aid and Employment at Princeton University.

Hun Honors Dr. Fankhauser

Dr. Albert Einstein paused in his scientific endeavors for a moment on Monday to accept a memorial gift of antibiotic pills valued at $500 on behalf of his friend, Dr. Albert Schweitzer, medical missionary in French Equatorial Africa. medicine in the second-floor study of his home at 112 Mercer Street. Robert Mudd, president of the Hun student council, made the presentation while council member Thomas Johnson and Dr. Douglas Borlen, faculty advisor, looked on.

Dr. Fankhauser was a close friend of Dr. Einstein and had met Dr. Schweitzer when she was a student in Berne, Switzerland. Interested in Dr. Schweitzer's work, she kept in contact with his activities through their mutual friend, Dr. Einstein. Dr. Fankhauser was the wife of Professor Gerhard Fankhauser of Princeton University's Department of Biology.

Aware of Dr. Fankhauser's interest in the work of Dr. Schweitzer, the student council members thought that medicine for the missionary's hospital would be an appropriate memorial gift. They arranged to purchase the medicine from E.R. Squibb and Sons with the $50 they had collected, but instead they got $500 worth of antibiotic pills—a medical bargain.

Service to Customers. Shops in Palmer Suare, calling attention to the unique aspects of their combined operation, have announced a plan to eliminate parking fees for shoppers.

Car owners are invited to drive into the yard near the Playhouse any time from 9 to 6. The amount of the parking fee will be refunded by shops in the Square upon a purchase of $2.50 or more. For full details, see the advertisement on page 10.

New Home to Be Shown. An open house for a new home of unusual design and construction has been scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday, December 18 and 19, by the builder, Colin T. Lancaster. Hours will be 10:30 to 5 on Saturday and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday; the model home is on Riverside Drive, which is reached from the Textile Research Institute road off the Princeton-Kingston Road.

Known as a "Techbuilt House," the home is of modern design but has lines similar to that of a Swiss chalet. Mr. Lancaster reports that every cubic foot is usable, with post and beam construction throughout and roomy, sloping ceilings on the second floor. Some 2,300 square feet of usable floor space are provided.

Walls may be painted or papered, and wide flexibility of plans is offered potential owners. Total cost of the home varies according to the size selected, but is based on a figure of $10 per square foot, complete with two-car garage.

West Windsor Resident Honored. Wendell Beecher has received an "achievement award" plaque from the West Windsor Township Lions Club for his service to the community.

Mr. Beecher is scoutmaster of West Windsor Troop 66 and is active in the Y.M.C.A. and other youth activities in the township. Starr Northrop, president of the Lions Club, presented the plaque to Mr. Beecher.

Howard Stepp, Registrar of Princeton University and a trustee of the Hun School, was the guest speaker at the club's last meeting, at which Mr. Beecher received his award. Louis J. Rieger, Miss Fine's Christmas Events. Two Christmas programs are being planned by Miss Fine's School for next week. An original play based on the story of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be given Wednesday, while the school's traditional candlelight service will be held Friday.

Class Four will present the play at the Lower School Christmas assembly, which will be held in the school auditorium at 11 a.m. Mrs. James Keever and Mrs. George Gordon are directing the production, which will feature carols of foreign countries sung by members of lower school classes.

Middle and upper school classes will present the candlelight service at 4:30 Friday under the direction of Miss Rosamond Cohan and Mrs. Marta Pacsu. The Glee Club and Madrigal Group will sing Christmas songs while members of the Middle School will sing Hungarian and Tagalog carols and the entire school will recite the Christmas story from the Gospel according to St. Luke.

Red Cross Motor Corps Head. Mrs. Paul Starkey has been appointed motor corps chairman of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross. She succeeds Mrs. Frederick A. Milholland.

Membership is open for a new course to be given at Fort Dix in January or February for Nurse's Aids, the Princeton chapter reports. Persons interested in the course may contact the chapter headquarters at 71 University Place or call 1-2404.

The chapter also has announced that canteen workers are needed for serving at parties at Fort Dix and also at meetings and teas at the chapter headquarters. Women over 18 years of age should contact the chapter for further information.

Scouts to Sell Trees. Boy Scout Troop 43 is selling Christmas trees this month to raise funds for its annual banquet. Scouts are soliciting orders on a door-to-door basis.

The troop reminded residents that if they are missed in the canvass they may purchase trees at the sale's headquarters, 152 Cedar Lane. In addition, this Saturday and again on the following Saturday a tree-filled truck will cover the community.

Christmas Party. The Business and Professional Women's Club of Princeton will hold its annual Christmas party at Avalon on Monday at 8 p.m.

Carols will be sung by a group of Princeton High School students, and a Christmas reading will be given by Mrs. Marjorie Kerr. Mrs. Mary Gill Reef will be in charge of games, after which refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Kahny, 59, of 20 Madison Avenue died December 2 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness. She was the wife of Albert J. Kahny and had lived in Princeton for 30 years.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Kahny is survived by two sons, James and Henry; a daughter, Catherine; two sisters and a brother. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated at St. Paul's Church, followed by interment in the parish cemetery.

Richard Palmer, 39, a former resident of Prospect Avenue and an account executive with the Vanguard Advertising Agency of New York, died December 4 in the Lahey Clinic in Boston.

Mr. Palmer is survived by his widow, Gloria; two sons, Hunter and Leslie; a daughter, Judith, and a brother. His former wife, Ruth, also survives. Services will be held this Friday in Scarborough, N. Y.

Edward L. Pierce, 88, active in the community affairs of Princeton since his retirement from the chemical business in 1921, died December 1 at his home at 15 Hibben Road following a brief illness. Mr. Pierce headed the Princeton Hospital Board of Trustees from 1929 to 1947 and served on the Borough Board of Health for 21 years, 19 of them as its president.

He had served as president of the Solvey Chemical Company of Syracuse, N. Y., and later as vice-president of Allied Chemical and Dye. He retired in 1921 and moved to Princeton.

Mr. Pierce became treasurer of Trinity Church in 1928 and was a senior warden. During his service as head of the hospital board, the institution made the transition to a modern hospital and moved into its new building.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Nelson Pierce, and a daughter, Mrs. Frederic A. Millholland. Services were held in Trinity Church, with interment in Milton, Mass.

course entitled "Principles and Practices of Tailoring."

Princeton residents will be instructed in the rudimentary sewing operations and in the more advanced arts of fitting, alterations and dressmaking from patterns. John W. Wharf, well-known Princeton tailor since 1931, will be in charge of the course.

Book Sales Net $2,900. The Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton has contributed $2,500 to the college this year from proceeds of its annual book sale. Most of the contribution will go toward scholarships, Miss Frances Jones, president of the club, has announced.

Miss Jones reported that the funds will provide a full-tuition scholarship for the niece of a Princeton University professor and will also enable a student from The Netherlands to attend Bryn Mawr as a freshman. Mrs. Emerson H. Swift of Princeton is chairman of the northern New Jersey regional scholarship committee for Bryn Mawr.

Five members of the club attended the college's Alumnae Week held at Bryn Mawr last month. They are Mrs. Lyman Spitzer, Mrs. Douglas Delanoy, Mrs. Charles F. W. McClure, Mrs. Harold Stein and Miss Jones.

Bake Sale. Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, will hold a sale of baked foods at the Shopping Center from 9 to 12 noon on Saturday. Proceeds from the sale will finance a Christmas party for children at Princeton Hospital.

Persons interested in donating baked goods or the sale or in contributing to the children's party should contact Miss Catherine Whyte, 80 Snowden Lane. Miss Whyte is the chairman of the sale and is also head of the post's child welfare work.

League Sets Meetings. Four unit meetings have been scheduled for next week by the Princeton League of Women Voters. The sessions will be open to the public as well as to League members.

Material provided by the organization's election study laws study committee will be included in the discussions. Mrs. H. P. Minis, chairman of the committee, has announced that the state election system as it now operates, as well as League proposals for revision and administration under a non-partisan commissioner, will be considered.

The schedule of meetings: Tuesday, 8:15 p.m., home of Mrs. William Z. Abrams, 21 University

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Public:

We have had many unusual and complimentary instances to relate since we have been in business. Probably some of them that we have related in our ads have sounded fictitious. We assure you they were not.

In November, 1954, we had our latest experience that gave us a lot of satisfaction. We delivered a 1950 Plymouth that is being shiped to Paris, France. We are proud that a customer would put such trust in us.

To you who have not tried us for "Top Value," we invite you to see why we have the privilege of doing business with so many nice people.

Miscellany. Daughters have been born at Princeton Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Forman, RD3 and Mr. and Mrs. John Janick, Alexander Street.

The general alarm last Thursday morning was for a fire that started in the sofa in the living room of the house at 10 Lytle Street, home of Mrs. Velma Betts. Furniture, curtains and venetian blinds in the room were damaged.

Harold W. Harding, a Princeton sophomore who had been listed as missing for more than a month, was located last week in Vermont. He had left college to take a job at a ski lodge at Stowe, police reported.

The Lions Club Auxiliary will hold its annual Christmas party Monday evening at 6:45 at the Nassau Tavern. Husbands of members will attend, with the program featuring a concert by the Columbus Boychoir under the direction of Herbert Huffman.

News of the Churches

"Magnificat" To Be Sung. The "Magnificat" of Johann Sebastian Bach, a 35-minute setting of Mary's song of praise from the first chapter of St. Luke, will be sung by the Adult Choir of the First Presbyterian Church at the 11 o'clock worship service this Sunday.

Mrs. Mary T. Krimmel, director of music for the church, will direct the choir and also play the organ accompaniment which is her own arrangement of Bach's original score for trumpets, oboes, flutes and strings.

In performing the "Magnificat" during the regular Sunday service, the church is following a custom inherited from Bach's day, and as in Bach's church, all the soloists have been chosen from the regular Sunday morning choir.

The soloists will be Mrs. Virginia Switten, soprano, graduate of Westminster Choir College and director of music for the Valley Road School; Miss Florence Paist, soprano; Mrs. Marjorie Cornell, alto, former member of the Bach Choir of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania; Myron Plooster and Arthur Tempel, tenors; and Herbert Kraft, bass.

S.O.S., Report. Total contributions to the "Share Our Surplus" overseas relief project are approaching $1,000, according to an announcement from Dr. John R. Bodo, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Eleven Princeton churches have joined in this project to make surplus American food available to starving peoples overseas. Recent Congressional legislation makes it possible for churches to distribute surplus food abroad if they will bear the cost of shipping. It has been estimated that under this plan, a contribution of $1 will release $20 worth of surplus food.

Indian Missionary Here. Miss Felicia Sunderlal, Indian secretary of the Women's Division of the North India Mission, will speak to members of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church Monday at 3. She is spending the year in America studying the organization of women's work in Presbyterian churches. Mrs. Otis Marshall, Circle 7 chairman, will be in charge.

Union Services. The Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor of the Princeton Methodist Church will speak at the Sunday evening services of the three Presbyterian churches, to be held this week at 8 p.m. at the Witherspoon Church. Dr. John R. Bodo will conduct the service and the music will be under the direction of Mrs. Sara Harris, director of music for the Witherspoon Presbyterian church. Chapel Vespers at 5 in the Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church will be led by Dr. Bodo.

REGULAR SERVICES

Second Presbyterian. The 11 a.m. service this Sunday will be a White Gift Christmas service with children and members of the congregation offering white-wrapped gifts that will be sent to the congregation of a Puerto Rican church in New York City. The Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor, will give a sermon on "Babel to Bethlehem", at 11 a.m.

St. Paul's Roman Catholic. Masses will be offered hourly on Sunday from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and Novena devotions on Monday at 8 p.m.

Rocky Hill Reformed. "Wise Men of Today" is the subject of the 11 a.m. sermon to be given by Gordon H. Curtis, pastor of the church. Sunday School will meet at 10 a.m.

Princeton Jewish Center. Children of the Sunday School and adult members of the Center will participate in a Family Night this Friday at 7:30 at the Center on Olden Avenue. Dr. Norman Golb will lead the service, which is built around a Hanukah theme.

On Sunday at 8:30 p.m., there will be a Hanukah party in place of the regular monthly meeting. The traditional Hanukah latkes will be served by the women of the Center, while Mrs. Manuel Greenblatt, Mrs. Norman Benard, Mrs. Seymour Bogdanoff, and Mrs. Leonard Hymerling will be in charge. Music for the party will be led by Daniel Bershada. Mrs. A. Robinson, Harold Ostroff and Leonard Hymerling will arrange a program of games.

First Baptist. The Rev. H.M. Ingraham, Chaplain at the Columbus Boyceir School, will be guest speaker this Sunday at the 11 o'clock service. His subject will be "The Wise Men Follow the Star."

In the evening at 8, the Rev. Dr. William T. Parker, pastor of the church, will speak on "We Would See Jesus". The Wednesday evening service at 8:30 will also be led by Dr. Parker.

Princeton Methodist. "Are You Ready for Christmas?" is the topic chosen by the Rev. Charles W. Marker for his 11 a.m. sermon Sunday. Church school will meet at 9:45 a.m.

At 7 p.m. Sunday, the Wesley Foundation will begin an evening of carol-singing for shut-ins and the sick. After the singing, they will pay their traditional visit

Books Say "Merry Christmas" Best

BOOKS are the easiest of all gifts to select, yet the most correct.
Buyers of book gifts needn't worry about size or color scheme, or whether he or she already has one. No one ever receives too many books. Even the person who rarely buys books himself will be flattered by the gift of books.
There is a book gift for every age and every interest.
Price is no problem — books come in every price range.
Besides, with books more than anything else,
it's the idea behind the gift that counts.

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

Triangle Show. The University's Triangle's Club is offering "Tunis, Anyone?" as its 63rd annual musical comedy production this weekend in McCarter Theatre.

The show opens Thursday and continues on Friday and Saturday evenings. Suggestions for those caught without tickets because of the show's rapid sellout will be found in the box on this page.

The undergraduates once again have cooked up a wacky plot which calls for much song and dance in traditional Triangle fashion. The 32-member cast and chorus has been drilling since early fall in preparation for the show.

Season to Resume. With Triangle preparations having called for a pause of some six weeks in the regular McCarter schedule, plans were announced this week for "Tonight in Samarkand," which will inaugurate the new year on January 6-8.

The Parisian hit will have its American premiere at the McCarter, with Louis Jourdan and Mai Zetterling in the starring roles. Performances will be nightly Thursday-Saturday and on Saturday afternoon.

The McCarter will not advance prices for the production. Mail orders are now being filled and tickets will be on sale this weekend at the box office during the run of the Triangle show.

"Tonight in Samarkand" is the work of Jacques Deval and has run for two years in Paris. Lorenzo Semple Jr. has adapted the show, which Herman Shulmin will stage on Broadway. Princeton and Boston will be the only tryout cities before the production bows in New York the last week in January.

Miss Zetterling, the glamorous Swedish star who has appeared in the films "Quartet" and most recently "Knock on Wood," will be making her American stage debut in the play. Mr. Jourdan, a leading French star, has also scored in many films and last season was seen in Andre Gide's "The Immoralist" on Broadway.

THE PLAYHOUSE

White Christmas (Dec. 9-15) replaces "Desiree" for this weekend and runs for a full week. It's a pleasing piece of lively, bouncy, musical entertainment erected on a mushy little plot.

The performers are the excellent Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney, Vera-Ellen and Dean Jagger. These stars have little trouble in making 13 Irving Berlin songs, lively dances and lavish revue skits and sketches outweigh a sentimental bit about two Army buddies who bail out their retired general, turned to resort-keeping in Vermont. The Technicolor production is the first filmed in VistaVision, which most viewers will note as mainly easier on the eyes.

Athena (Dec. 16-18) is a somewhat satirical musical comedy starring Jane Powell, Debbie Reynolds, Edmund Purdom, Viv Damone, Louis Calhern and Linda Christian. The antics of seven wacky granddaughters of a health faddist are handled in generally light-hearted fashion. A half-dozen songs are tossed in. Color.

"Tunis" Tickets Taken

For the third straight year, the Triangle Club's annual offering has been a sellout for its Friday and Saturday night performances. A few tickets are left for this Thursday's premiere of "Tunis, Anyone?", but ducats for the next two nights were all snapped up a week ago.

Those who miss the local performances can catch the musical comedy next Wednesday evening at 8:30 in Trenton's War Memorial Building. Tickets may be obtained through the Stacy-Trent Hotel (Owen 5-5311). The show will also play New York on January 1 and 2 in the Hunter College Theatre.

PRINCETON SYMPHONY

The Princeton Symphony Orchestra will open its fourth season this coming Wednesday night with a concert at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. Tickets are currently available at the University Store and remaining tickets will be sold at the box office Wednesday evening.

The Princeton Symphony will be again performing under the baton of Nicholas Harsanyi, musical director of the orchestra from its beginning. Mr. Harsanyi, a resident here for 17 years, is head of the instrument department at Westminster Choir College and is conductor also of the Princeton University Orchestra.

The soloist Wednesday evening will be Janice Harsanyi, wife of the conductor. Mrs. Harsanyi is also a member of the Westminster faculty. She is a graduate of the choir college and continued her vocal studies at the Philadelphia Academy of Vocal Arts.

An accomplished violinist as well, Mrs. Harsanyi has sung in solo recitals, oratorio and radio performances. She has appeared with several orchestras and sang this past Saturday and Sunday with the National Symphony Orchestra in Washington, D. C.

She will perform four of the great arias for soprano voice in Wednesday's concert. The selections will be Handel's "Care Selve" from "Atalanta;" Mozart's "Non Mi Dir" from "Don Giovanni;" Debussy's "Air de Lia" from "L'Enfant Prodigue," and Wagner's "Dich, Theure Halle" from "Tannhauser."

BOYCHOIR CONCERT

The Columbus Boychoir will present a varied program in its concert next Friday evening at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre. The Boychoir, making one of its rare appearances here, will perform for the benefit of a fund to purchase a playground site and equipment for under-privileged children at the Camden Deaconess Home and Community Center.

The concert is being sponsored by the New Jersey Conference, Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Charles W. Marker heads the committee in charge. Tickets may be obtained through Mrs. Chester Stroup (tel. 1291) and ticket applications are also available at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street.

Herbert Huffman will direct the Boychoir, assisted by Donald Bryant at the piano. The opening group of songs will include 16th and 17th century compositions by Leisring, Croce and Handel. They will be followed by Spanish, English and French Christmas carols.

Mr. Bryant will play two piano works by Chopin, the Mazurka in C sharp minor and the Ballade in A flat. The evening's highlight will be Haydn's one-act opera, "The Apothecary." It will feature choreography by Stella Becker and Ethel Sprague, sets by Robert Allen, and a full cast of characters from the Boychoir.

An Italian song, works by Orlando di Lasso, Mozart and Robert McGimsey, and "The Deaf Old Woman" specially arranged by Mr. Bryant are also included on the program.

Two nights after their Princeton concert, the "singing boys" will appear for the fourth consecutive year on the WRCA-TV broadcast of Menotti's opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

UNIVERSITY CHAPEL

The choir of the Princeton University Chapel will present its annual Christmas vespers service this Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the chapel. The service will be open to the public.

Dr. Carl Weinrich, director of music in the chapel, will conduct. Works by Lassus, Monteverdi, Schroeter, Handel and Praetorius will be performed.

Musical Amateurs to Meet. Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" will be sung at the monthly meeting of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs this Sunday in Miss Fine's School starting at 5:15 p.m.

The work will be sung under the direction of Professor J. Merrill Knapp. Soloists will be Florence Paist, soprano; Jean Chorley, contralto, Robert H. Cowden, tenor, and Fadlou Shehadi, bass. An orchestra of University faculty, students and town residents will take part.

Short Notes. An all-Princeton program of contemporary music will be presented Saturday in Newark by the Music Educators Association of New Jersey. The evenings will consist of compositions by Roger Sessions, Edward T. Cone, Milton Babbit and Donald Martino, all members of the University's music faculty.

Mr. Sessions will appear as pianist in his Duo for Violin and Piano, while Mathilde McKinney of Princeton will perform Mr. Cone's Fantasy for Piano. Songs by Mr. Babbitt and Mr. Sessions and Mr. Martino's Sonata for Violin and Piano are also on the program.

Two works by Mrs. McKinney will be performed over the weekend. The Community Chorus of Metuchen will sing her "Christmas Cantata" on Saturday, and the following day her Christmas anthem "The Wise Men" will be sung by the choir of the New Jersey College for Women as a part of its Christmas vesper program.

Mrs. McKinney's "Christmas Cantata" was introduced a year ago in the University Chapel by the choral and instrumental groups of Princeton High School under the direction of Thomas Hilbish.

Dr. Arthur Mendel, chairman of the music department at Princeton and a distinguished Bach scholar, will address the Princeton chapter of the American Guild of Organists next Thursday on the subject of "Bach Performance Problems."

The program will be held starting at 8:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Paul V. McKinney on The Great Road. Dr. Mendel will use tape recordings to illustrate his discussion.

THE GARDEN

Go, Man, Go (Dec. 10-11) features the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters basketball team. Their story is told in dull fashion, interrupting good game sequences and their on-court antics. Dane Clark is seen as the team manager.

Crest of the Wave (Dec. 13-14) finds Gene Kelly in a straight role, playing an American naval lieutenant who takes part in developing an experimental torpedo. Kelly and two other Americans are at work with British naval men, and their scientific problems are complicated by personality clashes of various sorts. Carefully made, with some touches of humor.

Times Gone By (Dec. 15-16) is an Italian product (English subtitles) which groups a half dozen stories, most of them about love in more or less lusty form. The fare is varied and hi-ely, if a bit too fragmentary, and the performances are fine. The cast includes Vittorio de Sica, Gina Lollobrigida, Aldo Fabrizi and many, many others. Not for the kiddies, at all.

Four Guns to the Border (Dec. 17-18) follows the regular Western formula of action and romance. Rory Calhoun heads an outlaw crew which does some fighting, pushes in a bank, meets reformed gunslinger and daughter, etc. Technicolor. Indians, Walter Brennan, Colleen Miller and Nina Foch also included.

Lawrenceville Hardware in Lawrenceville.

For a Christmas party, set the table with Clayton's green Christmas place-mats with their red bindings and small holly corsages. A red organdy apron from the same store would match nicely. Cummins offers you a white place-mat set with green napkins for $3.95, and a party panel to center on your white table cloth for $1.95. The Flower Basket suggests a ceramic reindeer or two in natural colors with bells on, for $2.75 each.

For a Christmas tree, wreath, greens, or table decorations, there is Lawrenceville Hardware. They will make the greens into any form you like, for table or door, and they have asked us to remind you that they are open evenings until 9, Sundays from 10-2 until Christmas.

House Warming. What shall we buy for the house? Try on a lamp, just for size. Manning's Wayside, on the Lawrenceville-Trenton Road, has a pair of antiqued silver table lamps 14 inches high with white silk shades at $20.40 each.

In the modern manner, a tall brass Stiffel-Switch lamp has four plain brass "feet" to hold it up, and costs $17.60 with its shade. A wrought-iron tripod lamp in this store looks like a candleabra. A small brass desk lamp for $19.20 would suit a period desk.

Bambergers present to antique lovers is a brass signal lamp from England or a copper—well, it looks like a binnacle light to us, but our experience in these matters is limited;—or a brass lantern with sliding door. All these are $29.95. For more elaborate rooms, buy Bamberger's crystal ball lamp, a full two-and-one-half feet tall, for $19.98 with shade. For $6.98 you may have Bamberger's pin-up lamp that pulls up or down.

Public Service also has a pin-up lamp, this one made for your kitchen with three flower pots on a rack, and the light concealed under the awning that shades the flowers. For $10.35. Here, in the store at 42 Nassau, is a bird-cage pin-up and a modern lamp with white pottery flower holder under its shade.

Nassau Interiors invites you to pull up a lamp. Or pull it down, for a reading light. Pulley lamps may have conventional coolie shades or bubbes of white plastic. Lightolier has a modern pin-up whose triangular brass brace may be used as a stand to convert the lamp to a desk job.

Lamps from the Furniture Mart on the Somerville Road are brass with marble base and painted china bowl. They come in varying designs and sizes, but they are designed as table lamps.

The Princeton Decorating Shop, 32 Nassau, has a rare and lovely pair of Victorian girandoles at $65 each, with the original prisms, mellow old brass-work, and a single candle in each fixture. The pair date from about 1810.

Another pair of lamps have Staffordshire dogs for bases. An early American bridge lamp, if you'll allow us the anachronism, is made from an old oil-lamp base, mounted on modern wrought iron. Its shade is appropriately provincial. Price $35. Circa 1954, is a TV lamp copied from a classic urn. Gives a pleasant indirect light and matches almost any decorating scheme.

From The Silver Shop, 59 Palmer Square West, comes a copper measuring jug that has been made into a lamp.

Circuit. Want a small appliance in your stocking? Ask for a Necchi sewing-machine at The Fabric Shop, 6 Chambers. New to Princeton, the Necchi makes friends easily among seamstresses. It will embroider, mend, sew all kinds of zig-zags, make buttonholes, sew on buttons, everything but cut out the dress. Look at the apron in the Fabric Shop window to see what it can do.

A regular machine costs $128, but it's a standard model. For the fancy stitches, buy the $235 model. Time payments, of course, if you like, and trade-ins on your old machine.

The list of small appliances and their makers is almost endless, as you know. Toasters, steam or regular irons, mixers, clocks, electric coffee-makers,—almost any appliance manufacturer makes them all. Here we shall list the stores and the makes they carry:

G.E.: Public Service, Redding (234 Nassau), Bambergers, Rorer's (Broad St., Hopewell), Lawrenceville Hardware, Peresett (246 Nassau), Tiger Auto, Farr Hardware (138 Nassau);

Sunbeam: Urken's; Tiger Auto; Farr's; Peresett; Rorer's, Bamberger's; Public Service, Lawrenceville Hardware;

Waring Blendor: Farr's; Peresett; Urken's; Rorer's; Bamberger's.

Universal: Rorer's; Bamberger's.

Kitchenmaid: Peresett; Public Service.

Handyhot: Farr's; Urken's; Bamberger's; Lawrenceville.

West Bend: Public Service; Urken's.

Dominion: Rorer's.

Dormeyer: Rorer's; Bamberger's.

We might note certain specialties in the appliance line: the ceramic electric clock designed by Russel Wright and made by GE; the Sunbeam deep fryer; Broil-Quik's Fryer - Cooker - Server which we saw at Lawreneeville—you can prepare a pot-roast, soup, stews or a chicken in it; the Presto fryer at Urken's and Bamberger's.

Electric clocks are at Tiger Auto; Farr's, Peresett; Rorer's; Bamberger's; Public Service; Lawrenceville.

Lay the Cloth. Table linens make a prized gift for many housewives. Stone's Linen Shop, 20 Nassau, shows its collection of Irish linen: hand-drawn, plain colored mats and napkins from $4.95, printed ones in a modern design we would never have expected from the Irish, for $3.95.

Christmas tea-towels cost only $1, in strong country colors. Town House decorates its towels with barbecue scenes, chickens, lobsters and spice mills.

The Campbell soup kids appear, surprisingly, on white place-mats at Clayton's (17 Palmer Square West). Dressed like Pennsylvania Dutchmen, they are pictured with a clutch of vegetables in each hand. Guess what kind of soup to serve. Woven nylon makes supple, and yet indestructable place-mats at $1 each in all colors. Clayton's also has fringed cotton mats in natural, with red or green for 59c, and a golden wheat mat in a deep natural linen with green and gold stalks.

Nassau Paint suggests that you paint your own plastic place-mats. They are yellow or red, with the design traced on them. You fill in.

Jute mats at the Cummins Shop are 50c each, palm-leaf mats in the three-quarter-inch weave, are 25c. Both are left in the natural state.

Colored rayon damask cloths are at Bamberger's, and organdy mats shaped like a leaf, or oblong with applique work in soft shades of grey and white. Other organdy mats have polka-dots. An Indian-head set has printed mats

A MESSAGE TO THE MEN —

The little woman, "Bless her heart,"
Is yours to love and treasure,
And Christmas time is just the time
Your gratitude to measure.
Bedeck her ears with rhinestones bright
Adorn her neck with glitter,
Let sparkles trim her lovely wrist
And put her in a twitter.
Be modest if you care to be
Or go all-out in trimming,
Put star-dust in her lovely eyes
And set her heart a-spinning.
Right now we have a full-blown stock
But time is surely fleeting,
And make her shine on Christmas Day
With your own special greeting.

It happened last week at Bailey's — We were trying to trim the store for Christmas. We don't know how much we accomplished but all the nice gifts coming in each day do not give us much time for trimming. We do know you will find loads of Christmas good cheer.

If you are looking for a coat in Glen Plaid, one came in that was made for a famous Fifth Avenue shop for lots more than $39.50. Stop in and look it over.

New Year's jumps in right after Christmas and if you plan to step out and go on the town, stop in and look over the excellent buy of sample party dresses worth about $59 at $19.50. No two alike—sizes 7 to 17.

You men who plan to buy your wife and children Christmas gifts, come in and talk to experts on ladies' sizes in hosiery, gowns, slips, pajamas, panties, gloves, sweaters, skirts, suits, coats, and dresses. They are all nice and at prices you will want to pay.

All gifts boxed in Currier and Ives Christmas boxes free.

in all-over design with white napkins and a white organdy apron trimmed with the print. The set is $3.95, in several colors.

Wolman's, 25 Witherspoon, and Harris', 32 Witherspoon, have rayon damask cloths with napkins, and printed cotton luncheon cloths. Wolman also has white linen cloths with six or eight napkins.

Set the Table. Colorflyte dinner-ware at Lawrenceville Hardware is a mottled plastic ware, substantial to look at, light in weight, and well-designed. Put it in your dish-washer, even. A five-piece gift set costs $5.75. The dishes come in open stock, and there are serving pieces to match.

Pepper-mills keep grinding exceeding fine. Cummins has them in rosewood or red maple from California, plain as a peppercorn, or porcelain ones in imitation Blue Willow ($9.95) or Swiss models with a press-down mechanism instead of a grinder.

Wooden platters match those California grinders; well-oiled wood with spikes and a tree for juices. Cummins has them in $5.95 and $8.95 sizes. "Slippery duck" is made to fit into a platter; has rubber suction cups that hold tight, and spikes to impale the bird, for $2. Princeton Gourmet's platters at 180 Nassau Street are stainless steel from Sweden, brushed to a pewter finish, the 15-inch one at $5.95, and going down from there in size and price. Another is reversible: spikes on one side, plain on the other.

Gourmet invites you to drink espresso coffee, made in a real little steam espresso-maker, sized from three-cup ($5.75) to 12-cup for $12.50.

For your steak, Japan sends to Gourmet high-carbon steel made, so they say, by the old sword-makers, and sheathed in cherry wood. Four cost $3.95. French knives, also at Gourmet, have serrated tips and brass-joined tea handle. Six of them are $6.

Other steak knives and carving sets are at Bamberger ($75 here for an 18-piece set); Lawrenceville Hardware; Farr's; and Urken's.

Gourmet has a fabulous wooden (African mahogany) platter board from Sweden. It's 20 inches in diameter, over half an inch thick, with a handle at one side of the circle. Serve on it, use it as a tray or a cutting board. Smaller sizes include a nine-inch one for $4.50. The big fellow is $11.50.

A cheese board in walnut with heavy brass handles wound with raffia costs $9.95. It's mahogany big brother is $11.95. With the cheese, serve fruit on Finnish fruit plates for $2.50 each, done in soft blue-grey with realistic fruit clusters centered on each.

Fruit plates appear again at The Silver Shop where you may buy a dozen 90-year-old plates, the borders green and gold, the centers decorated with a different fruit still-life for each plate. Individual demi-tasses in this shop make fine gifts for a collector.

Women who love fine china would appreciate a gift from the Lenox collection at Bamberger's. This store and the Silver Shop both have a large collection of sterling flat-ware and hollow-ware in traditional designs.

Country Kitchen. Tin canisters painted black with figures painted in primary colors, a cookie pail to match and a clothes sprinkler that looks suspiciously like an empty beer can—this set is for sale at Stonewald's, 13 Palmer Square West. A teapot in this shop is made of glass with a built-in strainer, and a $1 tea strainer from Sweden has a spill-proof way about it. (Similar strainer in brass from Italy is at Gourmet.)

Town Shop puts on your shelf a metal caddy six inches tall, made like a little Japanese boy with a flat black hat for the caddy lid. He costs $3. The enameled cooking ware at Town Shop is in full stock—white with herbs painted on the surface in natural colors. A recipe box on the same shelf has doll-house cooking utensils glued to its top. A matching blackboard has doll-house soup cans, ham bone, rolling pin, glued to its small shelf.

The warming unit, as distinct from the chafing dish, occupies

Town Shop this year. One is brass and copper, lined with silver, with adjustable warming unit. It's fine for a buffet, and unusual because it's oblong and not round. Another warmer is pyrex and brass with alcohol burner under it all. England warms up to a tea (or coffee) pot with a nickel-plated caddy and electric unit to keep its temperature up.

A carafette and warmer set appears at Urken's, Bamberger's, Lawrenceville Hardware, Farr's and Rorer's. Two-up carafettes have four four-hour candles to keep them going.

Almite—an anodized aluminum with a permanent brass lustre has been fashioned into three bowls. Gourmet offers the set for $3.75. You can store food in them without affecting the food. They are made in Japan, and so is a black cast iron frying pan made in the shape of a fat fish, with a small bulge for an eye and a suggestion of fin. His handle is removable, so he can be a server as well. Put him in the oven, or on a coffee-table with flowers.

Salad comes to the table in thermo salad bowls from Farr's, keeping lettuce cool and crisp. Bamberger's displays bowls from Italy, Japan and Haiti, in various kinds of mahogany.

Furniture . . . on your list this year? Silver Shop has mirrors in plain old gold frames, brass sconces with mirrors . . . Nelson's Glass Shop (248 Nassau) has them modern, in all sizes . . . tables in solid cherry and birch designed to fit under a picture window, at Furniture Mart . . . black or pink Italian marble tops on occasional tables at the same store.

Samson card tables at Furniture Mart and Bamberger's, Stakmore card tables at Manning's Wayside . . . a folding wooden screen, unpainted, lacquered in a natural shade, or painted in a color at Nassau Interiors . . . a circle of rattan or twill to sit in comfortably at Manning's Wayside; a red velvet boudoir chair, two circles of tufted red, at the same store . . . gold leaf sconces for a large living-room at Princeton Decorating . . . a magazine rack at Manning's—its two grill-like triangles joined at their base, for a modern apartment . . . porcelain push-plates for a door, hand-painted at $6 each, at Princeton Decorating . . . snuff boxes to use for anything that comes to mind, from The Silver Shop . . . a ten-inch Madonna, graceful and Medieval, on a mahogany base at Princeton Decorating . . .

Sound and Color. Toscanini's recording of the Beethoven "Ninth", the Toscanini Wagner album, and the complete Toscanini "Fidelio" are the particular pride of the Princeton Music Center, Palmer Square West. Here, also is the Glenn Miller Limited Edition album, and Christmas albums by Robert Shaw, the Randolph Singers, and an album of carols in German.

The Listening Post, 164 Nassau, suggests a stylus pressure gauge for $2.50, Montavani's Christmas album, or an assortment of books including "High Fidelity Simplified," "Loud Speakers," or "High Fidelity Techniques." Buy a record storage album for ten-inchers ($2.85) or 12-inchers ($3.25).

The Music Shop, 16 Nassau, reminds you of its large collection of children's records. Lots of table and portable radios in this shop, too.

Original oils by James Reid, a Princeton undergraduate, are offered at The Little Gallery, 39 Palmer Square West, for $40 each. They are marines, many of them done abroad, all done in a breezy

Sports in Princeton

PHS Court Outlook Brighter. Princeton High opens its basketball season this Thursday with a prospect of bettering the 10 and 9 record compiled a year ago. Only one starter from last season's quintet has departed via the graduation route.

The Little Tigers will travel to North Plainfield for the season opener. A year ago North Plainfield won by 66-55 in overtime, but four starters, including high-scoring Bob Heys, have graduated. Princeton will be on the road again next Tuesday, meeting a strong Neptune team which won a year ago by 79-45. PHS will be favored in its first home start a week from Friday, when Hightstown will provide the opposition.

Tony Borzok, starting his second season as PHS mentor, has a squad that balances a lack of height with speed and all-court shooting. Passing has improved and Borzok is counting on the year of seasoning as a definite helpful factor.

Guard Pete Johnson, now at Dartmouth, is the departed member of last season's starting five. Senior Dick Wood (5-10) is battling a sophomore threat in the form of Nick Kovalakides (6-0) for the open position.

In addition, the starting team may be altered at center. Junior Lee Ammerman (6-2) has the edge over Al Terry (6-2), a starter for two years. Ammerman came up from the junior varsity at the end of last season and was sharing the pivot slot with Terry in the final contests.

Bob Montgomery (5-11), who averaged 13.5 points a contest last season, will be in the other guard position. At the forwards, Borzok will have lettermen Billy Rodefeld (5-11) and Marvin Trotman (5-10).

Trotman was on a scoring spree a year ago as a sophomore until he was declared ineligible for the final six contests. His sharp-shooting averaged 21.7 points per game, while Rodefeld scored at an 11 points per contest pace.

Terry and Kovalakides head the reserves, along with Bob Richie and Jim Thompson, both lettermen. Two seniors who played with the jayvees last season, Dave Fankhauser and Bob Cooke, round out the present 11-man first club. Borzok plans to hand out one more varsity suit shortly.

Assisted this year by Simeon Moss, Borzok has been drilling a squad totalling 26 for the coming 18-game schedule.

Tallest man on the PHS court is sophomore Alonzo Taylor at 6-4. Other sophs out this year include Dick Borger, Jim Henderson, Dick Knowles, Charlie Stryker, Dave Britton, Alf Pemherton, George Perks and Ivan Riddick.

Juniors Louis Rossi and Bruce Fleckinstein are out for the varsity for the first time, having played freshman ball. Ray Cevera, Pete Smyth, Russ Watson and Harro Wulf, all of whom played last year on the junior varsity, round the squad.

Tiger Teams Active. Princeton's basketball and hockey teams will both play weekend engagements, with the skaters taking on two tough opponents within 48 hours. They'll go against St. Lawrence this Thursday night at 8 and will entertain Boston University in Baker Rink Saturday at 2.

The basketball team, which opened its season Wednesday night against Lafayette, travels to New Brunswick to take on a Rutgers quintet that is expected to he below par this season. It will be the Tigers' last engagement before they move into strong Big Ten opposition. Michigan State and Iowa will be played next weekend in Philadelphia's Palestra, with a mid-west trip to face Wisconsin and Northwestern following after Christmas.

The hockey team trimmed an alumni sextet last Saturday, scoring five times before the "old men" got started and winning, 7-4. Charlie Pratt and Gordon Wilson each scored twice for the varsity, while the alumni goals went to Pete Gall, Alf Gardner, Bill Bancroft and Pete Cook. The latter, a member of the Class of 1937, gave his contemporaries an intriguing example of how to stay young by partaking in a fair share of slam-bang action when 17 years out of college.

In addition to Cook, other Princeton residents past and present to play for the alumni were George Young, Mel Dickenson, Fred and Bill Schluter, Charlie, Pete and Hal Erdman. Of the last-named family, brother Mike held down a defensive post for the varsity in his first game as a sophomore.

Coaches Pick Princeton. A majority of coaches in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League expect Princeton to win the title this year. With each coach abstaining from voting on his own team, four of the seven eyeing the Tigers gave them the nod for first place. Defending champion Cornell was selected by two others, with Penn picked hy one.

On the point system used by the League, Cornell ranks as the strongest team. Debiting each entry with a point if picked for first place, two for second, three for third, and so on, the Ithacans' total was 12. Penn accumulated 14 and Princeton 15, indicating that the coaches who did not pick the Tigers for first had them as low as third or fourth.

Other totals: Columbia and Dartmouth 28 apiece, Yale 36, Brown 45 and Harvard 46. Two new coaches go into action this season, Ray Stanley taking over at Penn from Howie Dallmar and Floyd Wilson succeeding Norm Shepard at Harvard.

Flippin Top Scorer. Although he played in only six games, Royce Flippin, Princeton tailback, was top scorer in the Ivy Group for 1954. Final statistics show that the Tiger captain-elect was credited with ten touchdowns for 60 points, two more than Brown's captain, Ev Pearson.

Flip was also high in individual rushing despite missing three games—his 494-yard total was second to Vic Williams of Brown. In total offense, he stood fourth with 687 yards. The Tigers' chief wingback, Bill Agnew, was eighth in the rushing totals with 366 yards and tenth in pass receiving with 14 completions for 196 yards.

In team statistics, Princeton was third in total offense, behind Brown and Yale, averaging 263 yards per game. Defensively, Yale, Brown, Harvard and Cornell all led the Tigers, whose average yield per contest was 284 yards. Playing all seven Ivy rivals, the Orange and Black won four and lost three to place fifth. Yale and Cornell tied for the title that the Ithacans had held alone in 1954.

Hun to Start Basketball. The Hun School basketball team will open a 15-game schedule Saturday afternoon, entertaining Rutgers Prep at 3 o'clock. Boh Ball, who played basketball at the University of Kansas under Phog Allen, has taken over the coaching duties for the Red and Black. Marked improvement is expected over last season, when the Johnny Huns went through a winless campaign.

Zigmund Emery, director of athletics at Hun, has announced the following schedule:

Dec. 11, Rutgers Prep; Jan. 7, Solebury, away; 11, George School; 15, Bryn Athyn, away; 18, Bayley-Ellard, away; 22, Delbarton; 25, Morristown; 26, B.M.I., away.

Feb. 1, Tower Hill, away; 5, Rutgers Prep, away; 9, Solebury; 12, Bryn Athyn; 16, Croydan Hall; 19, Peddie, away; 26, George School, away.

Short Notes. The resignation of Tuss McLaughry as Dartmouth's football coach leaves only Columbia's Lou Little ahead of Charlie Caldwell in length of service in the Ivy League. The Lions' chief of staff has rounded out a quarter of a century at Morningside Heights.

McLaughry, who had coached at Amherst and Brown before going to Hanover in 1941, will help select his successor and is expected to remain on the athletic staff at Dartmouth. His best seasons were in 1948 and '49, when his teams won six major games each year.

The Big Ten is expected to take exception to the NCAA's restricted television policy in its annual meeting this week, but even the strongest sort of opposition from this powerful conference is not likely to bring a major change in next year's plans.

Asa S. Bushnell, secretary of the NCAA television committee, was on the air at half-time in the Army-Navy game to say that the "game-a-day" policy was felt to be a tremendous advantage to the vast majority of colleges in the nation. Restricted television is considered a vital safeguard to attendance, with the gate receipts footing much of the bill for other sports the year 'round. Indications are that Asa and the NCAA will have increased attendance figures to back them up—a preliminary count in the East shows a marked upswing during the past fall.

Second Lt. James A. Loedding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Loedding of 44 Shady Brook Lane, managed the U. S. entry in the World Pentathlon Championships in Budapest, Hungary, this fall. Last spring, he took part in the all-Army triathlon championships, in which the events are firing the .45 caliber pistol, swimming 200 meters and running two miles. He is a 1953 graduate from the U. S. Military Academy, where he was active in athletics.

The Golden Construction Company will sponsor Princeton's entry in the 1262nd Army Reserve basketball league this winter, with games to be played Tuesdays and Thursdays in Trenton. Major Walter Golden, part owner of the firm which will donate the uniforms, is a member of the Army reserve unit.

The team will be coached by Major Alan C. Poole, also of Princeton. He played basketball on the Hun School junior varsity and for his club team at Princeton.

casual style. Remember Museum Reproductions here, and at Princeton Decorating and Town Shop.

Linen Closet. Towel manufacturers have handsome gift boxes this year. Callaway, Martex and Fieldcrest are displayed at Stone's Linen Shop, and this shop will gift-box any individual towels you select. At Clayton's, we found small Martex towels in a gift pail for a small price. Wamsutta finger-tip towels are $2.50 for six, in terry pastels.

Bamberger has Martex, Callaway, Cannon in spectacular offerings like the white crowns on a colored ground, a hot mustard shade, and polka-dots on a bright color. In this same department, there are nylon sheets by Peppercell, colors by Cannon and the striped Springmaids. Pequot is another brand here.

Harris, on Witherspoon, has embroidered pillow case sets in white for $2.25. The Cannon "His-Hers" sets are colorful and bright. Wolman has them, too, and so does Bamberger.

Dan River's gift sets are at Stone's, and here we found the luxurious blanket covers by Molye Lilienfield, in flowered challis with satin bindings. Double bed size: $10.95, twin bed sets: $18.95. Stone also has hand-drawn hemstitched and embroidered pillow cases for $4.75, and Irish linen hand-worked cases for $12.50 a pair.

Blankets are by Chatham and Springfield, at Stone's, with travel robes in zipper cases for a practical touch. One robe is a tartan, with matching tartans for sheets, cases and towels.

Inexpensive blankets at Harris' are $5.45 for a wool and cotton mixture. Bamberger offers a large blanket stock, too.

Eight to the Bar . . . Frosted glass decanters at Stonewald's, gold-lettered; a female figure with arms and legs made of bottle-caps and a nut-bowl in her hands . . . Urken's frosted highball glasses in swinging racks that won't spill, the racks fastened to a tray that has shallow bowls on each side; cut glass, rimmed with gold, makes a lazy Susan with dip bowl and four sections . . . Farr's four-inch cart with real wheels, and six miniature bottles that serve has spears for hors d'oeuvres . . . Nassau Interior's trays with white backgrounds and designs that Mondrian might have made.

Gourmet's wine-colored cooler for $1, a brass loop that fits any bottle, boxed, with recipe book inside . . . Stonewald's brass ringed tray with raffia-wound glasses and a grey ceramic cocktail pitcher . . . Flower Basket's bean-stalk martini pitcher, two inches in diameter, 16 inches tall . . . Wine and Game's Lo-Balls at $1.75 a dozen . . . Bamberger's waiter with outsized screwer in his hand, waiting for pretzels; the cut-glass decanters, and the immense Blenko decanter, fully two feet tall, in crackled amethyst glass . . . and everywhere, ice-buckets; sterling, plated, aluminum, painted metal, pottery, chrome . . .

Next week, we'll fill the punchbowl, the turkey platter and the cheese tray, and stock up the stocking with last-minute presents.
